

WE NOMINATE

Charles Klemm Agle, highly articulate architect and planning consultant, who once again has scored a bullseye in his running battle against what he terms "visual pollution." This 63-year old Princetonian, headquartered here since 1953 and described by associates as an "inspiration in New Jersey planning for many years," has added to his score or more of thoughtful papers on various phases of planning the newly published "Community Appearance: Why and How to Care for our Home Town," which is currently being distributed to municipal officials throughout the State by the New Jersey Federation of Planning Officials.

It is Agle's contention, and it is by no means a new refrain for him, that "in our preoccupation with the so-called 'big picture' we all too often forget that the environment in which we live, while we are looking forward to its improvement in economic, environmental and sociological values, can be made far less ugly than it is." Among all aspects of American life, he writes, "the matter of collective community appearance is unique in being the most neglected." "We should get moving on it," for Agle agrees that "improving the quality of urban life is the most critical domestic problem facing the United States."

Against the back-drop of his experience with housing, redevelopment projects and consultations in some 125 cities, and noting that Princeton Township's advisory Architectural Review Board was upheld by the New Jersey Superior Court this past January, Agle sets forth the substance of an ordinance "suggested for environmental improvement." While his 18 guide lines for a projected Board of Environmental Review, and his ensuing plea for "open space," are probably more adaptable to small and medium-sized municipalities than they are to "urban chaos," his basic philosophy is equally applicable to rebuilding "obsolete and deteriorated east-of-river areas."

A native of Bloomington, Indiana, and trained in Princeton's School of Architecture and Urban Planning (then School of Architecture) and the American School in Fontainebleau, France, Agle has long been in the forefront of those deeply disturbed by the development of the American city. Shortly after World War II, in a privately published volume, he noted that "the way American cities have missed opportunities to be attractive and decently livable is a domestic tragedy ranking with international politics;" years later he was praised for his major role as the chief planner in the "complete reversal of the downward spiral of Norfolk, Va."

Agle, a veteran member of the American Institute of Planners and a year ago elected Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, has seldom hesitated to speak his mind about Princeton affairs, whether advocating the creation of "bicycle paths" or the development of a "permanent Princeton Green Belt, or condemning zoning changes in rural residential areas for office and research complexes. The recipient of a National Merit Award for his design of the Princeton Housing Authority's Project for the Elderly, he chairs the Advisory Committee on Environmental Control of the Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

For stressing our urgent need for "citizens who care enough" to make the effort to improve their community; for believing that "we are strong enough to shape our own destinies if we can achieve a common understanding and desire;" for insisting that the "protection of livability" is everybody's concern; he is

WHAT ABOUT DRUGS?
Town-Gown Ponders. "There are no miracle solutions in the drug problem," observed Mrs. Nancy Grydelch, executive director of the Council of Community Services, in comment on the four workshops of almost 90 people who discussed Princeton and drugs at the recent town-gown symposium sponsored by the Council and Princeton University.

The drug workshops report was completed this week. Based on:

- Princeton has 60 to 100 known heroin users outside the University mostly under 21; many under 18, more boys than girls.

- The University's drug scene is quite different: undergraduates, graduates and young faculty limit themselves to milder drugs or psychedelics, ranging from marijuana to LSD. Hard drugs are rarely used.

- Princeton's drug supply is excellent: the town is between two large cities and the supply tends to move from the town

A Real Nor-Easter

The classic snow pattern developed on the weather map rather suddenly early Sunday, and the Princeton area joined the Atlantic seaboard in celebrating a white Easter.

A large mass of moisture-laden air from the south collided with a high pressure area pumping cold air down from Canada. In some parts of the storm-lashed east, thunder and lightning accompanied the snow.

Monday brought sunshine but no warmth, as the pre-dawn reading of 20 set a record low for the date. Cold is the word for 1970: since January 1, the temperature deficiency is almost 300 degrees.

into the University, rather than vice versa. In one of the four workshops, most of the 22 participants knew where they could find somebody who sells marijuana.

- "Fear" education hasn't worked. Most young people refuse to believe they might become addicts, or to admit it when they do.

- Because heroin is expensive—$50 a day—addiction leads to crime, and these are crimes that can be committed by anyone in any social or economic level.

- Are drugs a law-enforcement problem or a medical-social problem? A strict, punitive approach means that the courts are flooded with young people who are given severe penalties for possessing marijuana, but the juvenile probation system and training schools aren't set up to handle this flood.

- Studies on marijuana should have urgent priority.

- and perhaps the bleakest question of all, "What about the Princeton druguser who doesn't come to the attention of police, hospitals, doctors or clinics?"

What to Do? The four workshops all agreed that simultaneous solutions were needed to cope with simultaneous problems. Recommendations:

- A centralized group, known to everybody in town, should be the coordinator and serve as channel for Princeton's expertise, money and information.

"A start toward such coordination has been made with the new Drug Study Committee of Youth Concerns. See page 23."

- The University should state clearly what its policy is on drugs and pushers on campus, maybe even publishing and circulating its rules to make its enforcement known within the town, as well as on campus. University proctors should work with local police.

- Organizations already in existence need to work at stopping the drug pusher, helping the drug addict, winning up the drug user, and tackling the alienation, frustration and desire to be "one of the gang" that make drugs attractive.

- Young people themselves haven't done enough. Since young people look up to older young people, dialogues between University students and high-school students could help.

- Student government organizations might be very effective in changing the climate of opinion in schools about drugs.

- Teachers should be taught warning signs of drug use, and how to talk knowledgeably with kids about drug abuse.

- Small discussion groups of students, led by specially trained teachers, would be helpful.

• Parents, even with younger children, should be taking warning signs of drug use. They should be made aware of the kinds of treatment and help the community can give.

• Princeton needs a "half-way house" for teen youngsters under great stress in their own homes. Many young people could be helped by a two-week stay in such a place. It would be under a 24-hour director, perhaps a psychiatric social-work ec.

• A lobbying committee should be formed to work for realistic drug laws. The country needs laws which could handle the differences between marijuana and heroin; the difference between the drug user and the pusher; the difference between punishment and oppression and disease versus crime. Drug workers, participants included University students and professors, parents, members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the League of Women Voters, the YMCA and YMCA, businessmen, representatives of schools and churches and professional social workers.

HOUSING?

Meeting Is Planned. Whatever happened to middle income housing?

Princeton Community Housing Inc., the non-profit organization formed under state law to plan middle-income housing in Borough and Township, hopes to meet soon with Edmund Hume, the new head of the state's Department of Community Affairs. Mr. Hume is the appointee of Governor William T. Cahill, succeeding Paul Yvisaker.

"We'd like to sit down with Mr. Hume and talk with him about Princeton Community Housing," said Theodore Vial, PSIH president, "and we'd like to know how the wind is blowing in this new administration."

Princeton residents who oppose the Borough's site next to the public library, have been engaged full time in writing letters to the State Housing Finance Agency and other offices of the Department of Community Affairs. Mr. Vial said.

PSH applied back in August for the $20,000 that represents the second and final part of the money needed to pay architects and get the project, quite literally, off the ground. The money hasn't yet been received. Mr. Vial speculates that the change-over in governors and department heads may have made some waves in Community Affairs and delayed approval of the request. But he wants to talk with Mr. Hume, anyway.

ough and John D. Wallace for the Township (both Republicans) have written to Republican Governor Cahill pointing out their general approval of PSIH and middle-income housing for Princeton.

Meanwhile, Mr. Vial said there are few remaining differences to be worked out with the architects. The Housing Finance Agency must approve the contract between PSIH and the architects and this has taken a long time to iron out. "We are practically in agreement," Mr. Vial stated. Robert Geddes is architect for the Borough's project and Charles Agle is architect for the Township's.

NO POST OFFICE?

Written Word Awaited. Princeton Township is waiting for written confirmation of the post office department's decision not to build in the Township unless there is unanimous agreement on a site.

Arthur Parsons, director of facilities for the Philadelphia regional office of the Township and Borough officials last week of the post office department's decision.

Attorney Gordon Griffin has been preparing a request to the United States Supreme Court to hear the Township's case against a post office building on Harrison Street North. His request will be held in abeyance, pending receipt of the letter confirming the decision.

commented Mayor John D. Wallace.

At last week's meeting, past office officials said the new building would have no trucks larger than 16 feet. Operations would begin at 4 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m.

A site on Route One in West Windsor continues to crop up in discussions about a new post office. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini said that post office officials last week "didn't indicate that they were opposed" to a West Windsor location.

Opposition Continues. Meanwhile, the Princeton Community Democratic Organization passed a resolution to continue opposition to the Harrison Street site. "We are encouraged by the recently stated unwillingness of postal authorities to build where they are plainly not wanted. Three years of letter experience convince us, however, of the need for continued vigilance. We resolve, therefore, actively to continue our campaign against the Harrison Street site."

A committee was named to offer assistance in finding another site. Its members are Thomas Hartmann, a member of Township Committee; Steve Slaby, who has led neighbors' opposition and Richard Bergman.

TOPICS Of The Town

PETERSON WILL NOT RUN
For Council Seat, Fred Peterson, Republican Borough Councilman, will not run this fall for a second term.

Alan Czerick, the other Councilman whose term expires, has not said whether he will run again. He is now in his third term.

No Republican candidate has been chosen to replace Mr. Peterson. The Borough Democrats haven't chosen anybody, either, but Nicholas Bartolino, chairman of the screening committee, says that Martin P. Lombardo, whose re-count case is still in the courts, is a strong contender. There are about three other possibilities, Mr. Bartolino said.

In the Township, only one Commissioner comes up for reelection. That is William L. Wilson, now in his third term. Mr. Wilson says he has not yet decided whether to run again.

Deadline for choosing party candidates is Thursday, April 23. The primary is June 2.

CALENDAR ADOPTED

By School Board. The school-year calendar, a report on the drug program, procedures for selecting a new high school principal, the Wednesday Program and the Black Impact study are among items on a varied agenda for the Princeton Regional School Board Tuesday night.

The board adopted by 7-1 vote, a 1970-71 calendar in which school will open after Labor Day on Wednesday, September 8. Classes will end June 17. There will be a one-day winter recess on Friday, February 19.

The dissenting vote came from Dr. Robert Bierman who noted that most teachers wanted an earlier opening day. He added that, as a pediatrician, he had observed that a longer winter recess helped to break sickness patterns.

Park Here. Board member Winthrop Pike outlined, and the board adopted, a new policy on parking. The superintendent, conferring with fire and police chiefs and school officials, will work out parking arrangements for each school.

Parking will be restricted to authorized people, designated areas and specified times. Cars "illegally" parked will be towed away at the owner's expense.

Because of variations in student body and parking space, each school may well be different, Mr. Pike said.

In the new parking lot at PHS, next to the cafeteria, 30 of the 60 spaces have been allotted to students. A policy of windshield stickers will be adopted, Dr. Peterson said.

Drugs. Littlebrook School is developing a drug education program which may be a prototype for the whole school system to use next fall, reported Dr. Charles Huchet, director of Special Services.

The Littlebrook program swings on a series of neighborhood coffees for parents. At the first one, held last week, a Child Guidance representative and a juvenile police officer addressed the group.

"We want to get away from the big public drug meetings," Dr. Huchet told the meeting Tuesday night. At the small coffees parents are shown how drugs can be symptoms of more basic troubles. They learn what prevention can mean, and what the parents' role in prevention can be.

Planning for the coffees is being done by Dr. Huchet, Norman Van Arsdale of the school staff; Lloyd Taylor, principal of Littlebrook, and officers of the school's PTO.

At Princeton High School, some teachers deal with drugs if the issue is raised by students or relates to the course of study. Physical education teachers introduce drug study as part of the regular health curriculum. Teachers in the experimental Communication Center report considerable student interest in drugs and a lot of discussions. Some of these students have previewed films that are being considered for classroom use.

At the Middle School, the psychologist meets regularly with a group of interested teachers. Health, science and social studies teachers discuss drugs in class and more and more teachers seem willing "to risk dealing with the issue," in Dr. Huchet's words.

He added, "You can't cram drug education down the throats of either teachers or kids."

A Drug Education Committee, including representatives of the administration and Dr. Huchet's Special Services, will co-ordinate and make plans.

Dr. Huchet hopes students, perhaps with University undergraduates, will "assume some organized responsibility for fellow students deeply involved with heavy drugs."

The drug report will be up for discussion by board and public at the April meeting. It's a new board policy to lay a report out for all to see, and then schedule public discussion for the following month so the public can have a chance to read and ponder.

Principal: Next Wednesday, the board will have its first serious discussion of candidates for the high school principal's job. Superintendent Philip E. McPherson said he still hopes for a decision by the end of April, and he repeated that acting principal Florence Burke is an informal candidate even though she has not formally applied for the job.

He explained an interlocking selection procedure incorporating a staff committee elected by PHS faculty; a student committee partly elected and partly chosen by lottery; a PHS administrators' committee and a committee composed of administrators throughout the school system. Dr. McPherson is on the latter.

All are concerned with interviewing, screening and making recommendations. Stanley Stein, the system's personnel man, is involved, too.

No candidate is interviewed until the faculty and administrators' committees agree, and they haven't disagreed so far. Dr. McPherson repeated, "Another candidate will be recommended for board action until faculty and administration committees agree, he said."

"Wednesday's", Dr. John Marks, board president, reported on a meeting between board members and the Wednesday Council. There was little comment from the audience and in contrast to other "Wednesday" evenings, almost no criticism. The meeting with the Council was "exhilarating," Dr. Marks said. He quoted a teacher who had been in Princeton schools for 35 years: "The Wednesday Program has shown me there can be new life in a school system."

The Program is concerned, he said, with "ungrading and not removing people," and is an attempt to humanize the school system and break old authority patterns. "It provides a model of what public education can be," he stated.

Black Impact. The so-called "Black Impact" study is examining the impact of Princeton schools on black students. Dr. Huchet said that, although the school system has earned out the study to professional organizations, he felt it was important for local teachers and townswomen to undertake the study themselves. "The looking process and the questions and doubts give the best chance for change," he said.

He expressed disappointment that no elementary teachers had volunteered to work on "In-Part," in fact, there are few teachers in it at all, he said.

The study is asking such questions as "Why are not more black kids in advanced high school math?" "Why don't more black students participate in lacrosse?" "What about extra-curricular activities?" "Why even less extracurricular at the high schools?" Also on the study's agenda is an examination of the number of black children in supplemental reading classes. "What happens between teachers and kids that turns some kids off?" is a question we'd like to answer," he said.

40 New Courses. The board adopted, for submission to the state department of education for approval, 40 new PHS courses. Among them: Boys' Chef Class; Occupational Industrial Education; Architectural Drafting at students' request; Greek literature.

Richard Wood, head of industrial arts, reported that over 40 boys and 12 girls now worked for community business firms in the Cooperative Trade and Industrial Education class.

"Forty new courses," exclaimed Mr. Pike. "This shows our high school is not standing still!"

April Fool

Has come and gone:
That's Easter snow
On my front lawn!

Spring began 11 days ago. Since then, we have had four days of rain, too of sleet and one that brought just about everything no one wants, including close to five inches of snow.

A lot of it is left, and temperatures that are subnormal are not removing it very quickly. More precipitation (probably cold rain) is expected Thursday. Clearing weather thereafter won't last long, the Man reports — more rain is forecast for the weekend.

SEMINARY PROTESTS

Planning Board Requirements. Objections amounting to $68,300 will be laid before the Borough Township Planning Board next Tuesday by Princeton Theological Seminary.

That's the amount the Seminary estimates it will cost to meet all the conditions set by the board for approval of the Seminary's cluster housing development for senior faculty on Mt. Lucas Road.

The Seminary applied to the board for re-consideration of the Seminary's decision, and the board has placed the matter on Tuesday's agenda.

The Seminary objects to the requirement that it build sidewalks and curbs, both inside the development and along Mt. Lucas. Frank Reiche, counsel for the institution, says that interior walks would not lead either to schools nor stores and would detract from the rural atmosphere.

Curbs, both inside and along Mt. Lucas, could create serious drainage problems, Seminary designers feel. Inside, more catch-basins would be required than would otherwise be the case, Mr. Reiche says, and water might funnel down into lower-lying properties.

Since houses in the development don't even front on Mt. Lucas — and the board has praised the Seminary for this feature — the Seminary thinks it's illogical for the board to ask the institution to pay for the pavement to widen the road.

Mr. Reiche emphasizes that dollar cost isn't the prime consideration. The Seminary believes, he says, that there must be a "reasonable relationship" between improvements and the benefits they confer on any development. The Seminary contends there is no such relationship.

Also on Tuesday's agenda will be site review of the Princeton Hospital's temporary parking lot, and the revised plan of the Sabbath development.

BLOOD DONORS SOUGHT

Week-Long Drive Set. Across the nation only three percent of all people who are eligible become regular blood donors, according to the American Association of Blood Banks. In order to raise the average a little higher here, mayors John D. Wallace and Robert W. Cowley have issued a proclamation, making the week of April 8 through 15 "Blood Donor Week" in the Princeton community. A recruitment drive is under way concurrently by the Red Cross chapter here.

"Those who register as volunteer blood donors at this time will demonstrate concern, not only for their families, but for the hospital and keep the proclamation reads in part.

Princeton's two mayors took note that the demand for blood and blood derivatives is increasing every year as a result of three factors: growing numbers of accidents, growing use of Medicare and Medicaid, and the development of more new surgical techniques.

The Princeton blood donor program has operated successfully since 1949, when 53 volunteers adopted the motto "Share the Joy of Living—Give Blood," as they inaugurated the community-protection program. Last year, over 2,000 separate blood donations were required to meet the needs of patients at Princeton hospital and keep the program operating.

The illnesses which precipitate a "call for blood" can be unsensational: a tooth extraction is usually simple, but once when a hemophiliac was the patient, the hospital used 110 units of blood derivative, administered over a three-week period, to pull the patient through.

Many long-term donors in Princeton have felt the special joy of giving blood at a moment of intense drama: once a child with rare blood (B negative) suffered a ruptured spleen as a result of a sleigh-riding accident. Between midnight and dawn, six separate donors were called to the Red Cross to provide the transfusions needed.

That particular kind of joy which comes from helping a newborn to live came to four

A large part of the giving of blood reflects the same community spirit and requires the same charitable giving as other community drives. The campaign of the coming week in Princeton is designed to make individual members of the community more aware of their potential to help in the life-saving work of the blood program here.

Does "Troilus" Have a Message for Today?

It isn't often you have a chance to see "Troilus and Cressida," and if you've never seen it, or if you collect Shakespeare or simply if your curiosity has a literary bent, you'll probably go to see McCarter's final repertory production of the season.

But we'd like to send up a warning flare before you make your way through the walls of Troy to the Greek camp: this is not an evening to see blood and brain on fire.

The obscure works of great artists are usually the weak branches that have been pruned away over the years. We're not going to stay with that horticultural metaphor, but you get the idea: "Troilus and Cressida" is obscure and seldom performed because it deserves obscurity; it is written as a Trojan horse, pedantic, thin of plot, feeble of wit and short on poetry.

Director Tom Breman has done what he can to bring life to this smothered, but the first half of the evening is almost gone before it begins to move off dead center.

More fully, he has started with those punning shears we dropped a few lines back, cutting some of the endless speeches almost in half. But while a director can cut, he can't very well translate, and Shakespeare, in writing "Troilus" rummaged around in the bottom of the dictionaries to find words that were probably obscure even in Elizabethan times.

Because of this and because of the classic allusions that are inevitable in a play of this kind, you will find that whole speeches

"THOU BITCH-WOLF'S SON . . ." Thersites, deformed and foul of tongue, is played by Johnny Arnen in McCarter Theatre's production of Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida."

News Of The THEATRES

are almost impossible to grasp, or indeed even to hear, as they are spoken on the stage.

"Troilus and Cressida" is being played these days because it speaks with such disenchanted honesty about war and heroes. Well, heroes aren't much in fashion anyway and Shakespeare's observations on the petulance and vanity of Achilles, Ajax and the rest have less bite than they may have had a few centuries ago.

His comments on war are realistic and modern enough, but again, without much bite and certainly without depth.

The Trojan War is at a stalemate. The two sides have been wearing each other for seven years. There are Greeks, and Trojans too, who simply don't think Helen is worth all the blood that has been shed on both sides. Why not give her back, Hector suggests, and end the whole thing? But there is honor, and all that . . .

Tom Oliver is a nice gangly Troilus, who looks indeed young enough to have the mere 250 hairs Helen found upon his chin. Holy Allure as the faithless Cressida is bothsome as a ripe young peach and just as easy to squeeze. Dressed in knee boots and a mini-tunic which is certainly up to no good, she saunters on stage and instantly establishes in the kind of lass she is.

In a pleasant bit of casting,

Mr. Breman has Arthur Lithgow as King Priam of Troy and also as Agamemnon, the Greek commander. Rather like signing on Oliver to play both Ho Chi Minh and General Creighton Abrams.

Johnny Arnen makes a memorable first appearance in this last production as Thersites, the deformed Greek fool who has the best, darkest and most scabrous lines. We found his lust with Ajax one of the best moments in the evening.

Ray Aranha makes Ajax less a stupid dolt than a very believable braggart warrior. You'll remember Ajax and Thersites when you've left the rest of the Greeks behind in your memory.

This stuff, black little play, then, makes too thin a comment on war to justify the effort of producing it. If McCarter believes the Trojan War can stand for us all as a symbol of tragic folly, it would have been better to turn to Euripides or Aeschylus and leave Troilus, with Achilles, in his tent.

"JACQUES BRETEL"
Alive, Well, and Coming to Princeton. "Jacques Brete" is Alive and Well and Living in Paris, but his soul goes marching on, and will be in McCarter Theatre for a one-night stand on Monday, April 27, at 8:30 p.m. Members of the New York City company will appear in the Princeton presentation. "Jacques Brete" came to McCarter last fall as part of the Off-Broadway series and was a sell-out. Hence its return.

The evening is based on the music, lyrics and commentary of the French songwriter and performer, John Wilson, jazz critic for the New York Times, has said that "Brel's songs are to American songs what 'War and Peace' is to 'Mr. Roberts'."

... AND THE FISH

With Country Joe. Country Joe is one of the performers in the new film, "Woodstock" and you can see him in person on Saturday, April 18, in Alexander Hall if you're there at 8 p.m. with a ticket purchased at the McCarter Theatre box-office.

Country Joe and the Fish is one of the groups that focused attention on San Francisco in the development of rock music during the '60s. One critic described the group as "an electronic artillery unit that bombards the senses." Country Joe (McDonald) has composed much of the music himself.

THE STARK BACH

In Film Chronicle. The real subject of "The Chronicle of Anna Magdalena Bach" is the music of Bach, played by the Dutch harpsichordist Gustav Leonhardt.

The film will be shown at McCarter next Monday at 8 p.m. It's part of the New Cinema Series, and also the concluding event in the "Music at McCarter" series.

Jean Marie Straub filmed "The Chronicle" and it was first shown in this country at the 1968 New York Film Festival, awarded a Rockefeller Foundation grant as "Artist in Television." It resembles a series of mini-movies with musical accompaniment, and tells the story of every year since it was instituted. His appearance Friday is unfactionalized letters, documents, or the sponsorship of campus radio station WPRB, as part of the station's spring entertainment series.

"WEEKEND"

With Godard. Jean-Luc Godard's violent vision of life, in which existence is one long "weekend," one gigantic traffic jam full of blood and bodies, will be shown at McCarter's cinema next Tuesday at 8 p.m. as part of the International Film Series. "Weekend" has the usual Godard touches—jokes, flash cards, puns, little essays—and pretensions. It mixes fantasy and documentary fiction in the unique style of the famous French director.

NEW CLASSES START

In Yoga. Lasse Smith, marking her fifth anniversary of teaching yoga classes in Princeton, has her spring season underway. It will run through June 5 at the Appari Studio, 217 Nassau Street.

Lasse Smith feels her students have been under the direction that Yoga has become one of the most successful contemporary methods of producing improved physical and mental efficiency. The unparalleled growth of Yoga in the last four years is traceable to sincerely dedicated teachers who, like Lasse Smith, believe that Yoga is a unique and fascinating approach of relief of nervous tension, complete relaxation, development of grace and poise, weight reduction and overall improved health.

Lasse Smith has studied under Clair Spring in California, who wrote "Yoga for Today." She has also studied in India, Nepal, Thailand, Brazil and Argentina.

SHEPHERD DUE BACK

Humorist to Speak Here. "Flick, Schwartz and Bruner" will come to Life Friday night in Alexander Hall, when Jean Shepherd returns to the Princeton University campus. A topical humorist who commands a fanatically loyal audience six nights a week on New York radio station WOR, Jean Shepherd kept a standing-room-only crowd in stitches here last year for two hours during his first campus visit.

His monologue Friday is liable to cover anything from his friends "Flick" et al. to childhood in Indiana, to the "new left," to late-night movies. Tickets are $2.50 apiece, and are available through the University Store and Media One Stop in New Brunswick. Any remaining will be sold at the door before the 8:30 performance.

Though he built his following through an unusual radio program, Shepherd's published reminiscence of his Indiana upbringing, "In God We Trust. All Others Pay Cash," was a nation's top best seller. He was recently awarded a Rockefeller Foundation grant as "Artist in Television." It resembles a series of mini-movies with musical accompaniment, and tells the story of every year since it was instituted. His appearance Friday is unfactionalized letters, documents, or the sponsorship of campus radio station WPRB, as part of the station's spring entertainment series.

scheduled to perform with the American Ballet Theatre Players at McCarter.
The Players will come to Princeton on Sunday, April 12,
at 8 p.m. and will dance in Mc-Carter.

Both Ebelsaar and Radiu joined the Netherlands Dance Theatre of the age of 15.
They have been soloists with the American Ballet Theatre for the past two years.
On the Princeton program
will be William Dollar's "The Combat," George Balanchine's
"Grand Pas Glazounov," John Taras' "Design for Strings" set to music by Tchaikowsky and Lew Christensen's "Divertisse-ment d'Auber."

PLAYHOUSE AND DRIVE-IN
Oliver (now playing) is an operetta, and its music is pungent, joyous, yearning. The film adds
a breadth and perspective to the stage version — for played to SRG houses in London for six years and on Broadway for four years.

Seldom do musical numbers
create a scene as effectively
as does "Consider Yourself
At Home" number, whereby 19th Century London comes alive as Mark Lester and Jack Wild dance through the streets.
Nine-year-old Mark Lester, as Oliver, is never exploited for his gentle charm. He underplays with a gratifying lack of theatricality. He sings in a tiny piping voice that is scarcely more than a whisper, although true.

The real swinger is Ron Moody as Fagin. Fagin has mellow-ed with the years. He's still a scoundrel at heart — but also a scoundrel with a heart. Mr.
Moody created the role in the original London stage production. In the film, he has pace, rhythm and color that make this
a truly memorable performance.

Tuesday's special showing

The Garden Theatre re-

the Prince, $2,575. Attendance was 685 at the Garden and 515 at the Prince, with admission priced at $5.
The special showing at the drew an additional $6,000. The funds will go to the Martin

society in a microcosm during the depression of the Thirties.
The setting is a seafair ballroom in the Los Angeles area,
an action movie around a dance marabout. "Hubba, hub-ba, how long can they last?"
The cast costarists include Jane Fonda, Susanah York, Robert Fields, Red Buttons and Michael Sarrazin. Gig Young is powerful, even overwhelming in a sensitive portrait of the master of ceremonies. Always a bit grimy, his ultimate corruption
in spite of vestiges of humanity
enchroons the whole ballroom.
Jane Fonda delivers her bling
remarks with superb timing.
Without ever saying much, she manages to communicate her hopes and eventual despair.

PRINCE
Goodbye, Mr. Chips (now playing). Old-fashioned sentiment is the trump card of the version of James Hilton's 1934 novel, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." The new "Chips" has been set to words and music by Leslie Bri-cous. It is not so unabashedly sentimental as the 1939 version which had Robert Donat and Greer Garson in the roles now played by Peter O'Toole and Petula Clark.

Some changes have been made in both characters and situations, but the tear-jerking situations are the same — the quietly expressed grief of the schoolmaster hero at the sudden death of his wife, and his emotional farewell to his pupils when he retires.

Terrence Rattigan wrote the film script, placing stronger
emphasis on the romantic angle.
Part of the film is played out against the magnificent ruins of Pompeii where shy Mr. Chips
meets the musical comedy star

IT'S NEW To Us

BUYING IS AN ART
For Small Town Shop, The Reynolds Shop in Pennington has a sophisticated clientele who like chic casual clothes and sleek little cocktail dresses. They're cost conscious, yet they demand quality, simplicity —

THE REYNOLDS SHOP moved around the corner from Main Street to 23 West Delaware Avenue in Pennington a few weeks ago and it's now a bright and beautiful place to shop. Artist William Hankinson of Pennington took time out from his New York assignments to do the decor.

and some assurance that the same dress isn't going to be worn by a dozen other women in town.

Buying for such customers is an art, one that Caroline Cressman and Rosemary Wetherill have long since mastered. Their shop on Main Street has flourished so well that they have moved to new and larger quarters at 23 West Delaware Avenue, remodeling an old house.

Mrs. Cressman is the key woman for the Reynolds Shop these days, while her partner devotes full time to the fledgling "Up To You" boutique for girls, located in a separate building in the rear.

The Reynolds Shop carries lingerie, dresses, ensembles, sportswear and accessories. The sizes range from 6 to a few 20's. The lingerie is chosen with a selective eye — for young women, for the older women, and there's also a dreamy froth of things for the bride or new mother. Nearby are some attractive coffee-coats and robes.

Among the casual clothes is the marvelous Meadowsbank wrap skirt in heavy cotton — some with prints on both sides, others with a print backed by a solid color. Some are kill length, others longer. ($20)

Tall women will find here the Evan Piconne slacks that are perfectly proportioned for their height. "Slacks are straight in the leg this year," Mrs. Cressman says, reporting the demise of the bell bottom.

The designer Vera has some intriguing printed tops that go with her solid color slacks. There are many designs — all awash in spring color as only Vera can do. The tops are a nice length.

For the petite woman, The Reynolds Shop has a short jump-out in terry cloth. There's a collar and short sleeves. And, for variety, quilted top and pants in a pink-and-white print, with slim shoulder straps.

The broomstick shirts are marvelous stripes of madras plaids, very gathered and gay. ($20.) There's a long-sleeved, tailored shirt that blends with all of them.

Pursuing the mix and match idea, you'll see the Glen of Michigan coat-dress that is paired with slacks, both accented with narrow stitched lining. A take-off point for a number of combinations.

The Reynolds Shop has the Hanbury ensembles — which are quite Queen Elizabeth in look. All you'll need is an equestrian. Hanbury is a Canadian firm. There are a lot of David Crystal dresses — marvelous costumes for weddings, graduations, and parties.

And, for a casual day, the famous Lacoste "alligator dress," keyed in by the appliqued alligator up top there. Women who love these soft, wonderful knits buy two or three at a time.

Tennis players will recognize the Rene Lacoste knitted shirts. We liked the aqua with a fly front. There are others — in sleeveless white, for instance, with red and blue trim alternating at the neck. All come with a little sash if you want it. (from $22.) These shirt dresses stand up very well. No wrinkle problems, and they drip dry when you wash them.

From Tanager of North Carolina, the Reynolds Shop has the amusing "shirting" with a tailored collar and straight sides. Soft and pliant, it drapes well when you add the narrow rolled belt.

Among the accessories at The Reynolds Shop, we noticed the —Continued On Page 11

MUSIC In Princeton

MUSICAL ON SUNDAY

For Violin and Piano. A spring musical of violin music by Geoffrey Michaels and piano
duets by Shirley Batchelor and Patricia Michaels will be presented on Sunday, at 3:30 in the Princeton Day School auditorium. Sponsored by the Princeton Ballet Society, the benefit concert will help send members of Regional Ballet to participate in the 11th annual Northeast Regional Ballet Festival in Toronto
next month.

Mr. Michaels won the Australian Broadcasting Commission's
national competition for instrumentalists in 1958 before coming to this country to study at the Curtis Institute of Music with Efrem Zimbalist. He was a member of the Curtis String Quartet and a teacher at the New School of Music in Philadelphia from 1964 to 1969. He will appear with pianist Vladimir Sokoloff later this season
in a bicentenary commemoration of Beethoven.

Mrs. Batchelor a Princetonian, is assistant professor of music at Trenton State College and a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music. She has studied piano with Carl Friedberg and Edward Steiermann.

Mrs. Michaels has played in chamber music groups and as an accompanist in the Philadelphia area since 1963.

The opening number of the concert will be Beethoven's Opus 22, "Sonata in A minor," performed by Mr. Michaels on violin and accompanied by Mrs.
Michaels on piano. Mrs. Batchelor and Mrs. Michaels will next present piano duets of Debussy's
"Six Epigraphes Antiques," and Brahms' "Sonata," Opus 29.

Following an intermission, Mr.
Michaels will offer Hindemith's
"Sonata for Violin Alone," Opus 91, no. 1, and "Sonata No. 6 in E major for solo violin," by Ysaye. Mrs. Batchelor and Mrs.
Michaels will give a duet to Mozart's "Sonata in F major, K. V. 491." Mr. Michaels will conclude with Tchaikovsky's
"Vielude" and "Waltz-Scherzo."

A reception will follow, as concert patrons meet the performers
and members of the Princeton Regional Ballet.

Members of the concert committee are Mrs. A. Bruce Lampert, Mrs. Gregory Farrell, Mrs.
Aubrey Huston, Mrs. Peter W.
Schreiber, Mrs. Arthur Lerner
and Mrs. Richard Rubin.

Tickets are available at the Princeton University Store and
at the Princeton Ballet Society, 263 Alexander Street.

SAFRAN FEATURED

In Three Concerts. The music of Arno Safran will be featured in two concerts this weekend
and one next Tuesday, all in Trenton. The concerts are free to the public.

Mr. Safran is on the music faculty of Trenton State College
and is a well-known composer
in this area. He is music critic
for TOWN TOPICS.

This Saturday at 8:30 p.m., compositions by Arno Safran will be played at the New Jersey State Museum as part of the museum's series of concerts of music by American composers.

At the Saturday performance,
the program will consist of Mr.
Safran's sonata for clarinet and piano with Marion Zarzecka,
pianist and Allen Pomerantz,
clarinet; his piano sonata with Miss Zarzecka; the quintet for wind instruments and a new set of four Shakespeare sonnets.

gram will consist of Mr. Safran's

The picture is strongly dramatic. The music is a kind of bonus — incidental music for the most part. The Erice songs are bland. O'Toole makes a first-rate Chips — one that challenges
comparison with Donat who won an Oscar for his performance.
Miss Clark is as charming in the role as Miss Garson was back in '29.

gram will be the same, but the
woodwind quintet will be omitted
and in its place will be Mr. Saf-ran's first set of four Shakespeare sonnets.

Soloist in the two sets of the Shakespeare sonnets will be Mary Meyers, soprano, with George Bozarth at the piano. Mr. Safran composed his second set of sonnets for Miss Meyers after she sang the first set last May in premiere at the New Jersey State Museum.

Next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Bry Hall at Trenton State, the program will include the world premiere of Mr. Safran's cantata, "Music for Orpheus," based on the score Mr. Safran wrote for a film of Frederick Oleski.
Performers will be the new
Trenton State College Faculty
Woodwind Quintet.

Works by Hindemith and Danzi will be played, in addition to the Safran cantata.

BRAHMS REQUIEM SET

For Glee Club Concert. Finding its crowd screaming and alluring in number only, the Princeton University Glee Club
will join forces with the 33-voice
Manhattanville College Glee Club for an upcoming performance
of the Brahms German Requiem, one of the great works
of choral literature.

The performance, Sunday night, April 12 at 8:30, will also bring a large 19th-century
style orchestra into Alexander Hall, as called for by the original score.

Professor Walter Nollner, conductor, has assembled members of the University Orchestra and other musicians of professional caliber for the performance.
In addition to the usual body of strings and wind instruments,
the score calls for tuba, nicola.

Eileen's Super leather pocket books and sandals. There are Margaret Smith's beach bags fully two-and-a-half feet from top to bottom, as well as her lovely print handbags and slim
dolls of linen clutches. Classic straws, too.

CREATIVE TOYS

For Spring and Summer, in spite of the Easter snow, it is time to think about getting your lamb out of doors with some of the curious toys that Creative Playthings develops to challenge
their imaginations.

Creative Playthings has a pleasant way of giving a child
the basics and letting him or her take it from there. An eight-room dollhouse, for example,
with all the rooms at the corners and exterior walls eliminated. It folds flat for storage.

Or the "upswing climber"
that is a rope with doves inserted at intervals for climbing, and a swing seat at the base. And maybe the dome climber — a geodesic arrangement of steel rods that can be a jungle gym, or topped with a sheet of plastic cloth, an igloo or a knar base. About 8-feet in diameter, ($30)

For the beach — a marvelous new kind of kite — the Flexikite — with no sticks and the innervent. The innervent, Francis M. Rozaglio, is an aro-nautical engine. It can be maneuvered like an airplane,
and it alters its shape to adjust for changes in the force of the wind. Made of strong Mylar plastic, ($5)

Smaller children will be interested in the Playtown marina and airfield developed by Creative Playthings. The airfield includes a wooden helicopter, airplane, jet, jeep, hangar
and vinyl landing area. The marina has a cabin cruiser,
dinghy, hydroplane, two docks,
shed and gas pump for servicing the fleet — all of wood.

There's a mustard and cress
farm for your preschooler,
quick-growing greens that may be raised on the windowsill of his room, ($1.50) For the two-year-old, Fred Bear, a foot-high
round bundle of brown corduroy.

Perhaps the most intriguing
of the new Creative Playthings ideas are the cloth bricks. Babies chew on them; toddlers pile them. This is a set of nine soft, foam rubber cubes, each covered by a washable fabric
printed in bold graphic designs
($7.50)

And in happy recognition
that every youngster needs time
to be by himself, Creative Play-things is offering a swinger
sawhorse of fine-mesh nylon,
made in a Brazilian fishnet factory. You can get it, too, as it will support up to 1500 pounds.
(With an auxiliary equipment,
$17.95)

Music In Princeton

contrabassoon, three trombones
and "at least two horns."

The work will be sung in German, as Brahms felt the sound
was dependent on the original text, drawn from the Lutheran church. Soloists will be Karla Johnson, soprano, and John Bogart, baritone.

Tickets for the Remieners are available from Gle Club members, the University Store, and will also be sold immediately
before the concert at Alexander Hall.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Three Works Planned. The Music Club of Princeton will present works by Beethoven, Mahler
and Mendelssohn on Wednesday evening at 8:30, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lee H. Bristol,
210 Mercer Street. In the featured Mendelssohn trio in D minor, opus 49, instrumentalists will be Nadia Koutzen on violin, David Gurenschein on cello and Frank Taplin on piano.

OPERA AUTHORITY HERE

Dr. Hurke to Speak. Professor Helmut Hurke, music historian from the University of Frankfurt,
will give an English-language
lecture on "Neapolitan Commedia Musicale: A Little-
Known Chapter in 18th Century Opera," Thursday, April 9, in Woolworth Center on the Princeton University campus. The lecture will be at 4:30 in Room

110, and the public is invited to attend free of charge.

Dr. Hurke is well known in the fields of Western Chant and 18th century opera and cantata,
and has authored a book on Per-gozzi which will be published shortly. He is currently a visiting professor of music at Brandeis, and has lectured throughout the United States. His appearance at Princeton is sponsored by the University's Department of Music.

TRIO TO PLAY BAROQUE

At Choir College Tuesday, The Baroque music ensemble "Estro Armonico Amsterdam" will appear Tuesday evening at 8 in Bristol chapel of Westminster Choir College. Their unusual program will focus on the 17th century, making use of an authentic Baroque violin in performance of some of the oldest known Italian violin compositions, including works by Marco Vocellini, Dario Castello, and Arcangelo Corelli.

The trio consists of Jaap
Schroeder, violinist, Veronika
Hampe, on the viola da gamba,
and Anneke Uittenboech, barochordist. All are teachers and instructors at the Amsterdam Conservatory, and they have international reputations.

On Tuesday morning at 11,
Mr. Schroeder will give a lecture in the chapel which is also open to the public, like the concert, free of charge.

tion conditions.
After a two-hour presentation, the board ruled that Mr. Westervelt eliminate a rear yard and use it as a turn-around to prevent cars from backing out onto Chestnut; that all parking spaces on the lot be reserved for people living there; that the plan is subject to site plan review by the Planning Board and that the Borough building inspector inspect and approve the building as it is now. The latter condition was added when the board learned that a number of repairs had been made on the structure without first obtaining building permits.

Conversion plans call for the rental of units to two families — one on each floor — and one roomer, who would rent a room on the second floor. Mr. Westervelt, who lives at 364 Stockton Road, was represented by attorney A.C. Barclay Jr.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Mrs. Clausen New Secretary.
When four members of the same family work in Borough and Township municipal government, it's nice to have a family representative serve the new joint Borough-Township Planning Board.

Mrs. Eleanor (Robert) Clausen is the fourth and latest member of the Clausen family to decide on a career in municipal service. She began work March 16 as the new secretary of the new planning board.

Her husband Robert is superintendent of the Borough's Department of Sanitation and has worked at that job for the past 11 years. Her brother-in-law George Clausen is chief mechanic at the Borough's garage on North Harrison Street.

Her brother-in-law John Clausen is at the Township garage in charge of road maintenance (snow-plowing). The late Martin Clausen, former Township Chief of Police, was an uncle of the three brothers.

Mrs. Clausen comes to her new job with many years' experience in fields related to planning. She was with John Diehl the architect, for six years and with the Lewis C. Bowers & Sons construction company, in the construction department, for ten years.

A native of Hopewell, she now lives in Kingston with her husband and 15-year-old son.

CANCER AND THE WOMAN

Free "Pap" Test Set. Two films for women on cancer detection and prevention will be shown free of charge in the Princeton area in advance of "Free Pap Test Day" to be held in hospitals and clinics throughout Mercer County on May 7.

In Princeton, the films will be shown Thursday, April 16, at 10 and 11:30 a.m. in the Princeton Playhouse on Palmer Square. They will be shown again on Thursday, April 30, at the Prince Theatre, Route One.

The films, "Breast Self-Examination" and "Time and Two Women" deal with breast cancer and cancer of the uterus. It is uterine cancer that the quick and painless "Pap" test is designed to detect in its earliest

19th Century Sources of Modern Art.
In the environment-series lecture at 9, Professor Frank W. Nolstein, Princeton demographer, will give a talk on "Problems of Population Growth." This lecture was originally scheduled for February 5 but had to be postponed on account of a fire at Princeton High School. All lectures meet in the PHS auditorium, and admissions are payable at the door.

INDIAN PAINTINGS TAKEN.
Valued at $200, Three 14-by-18-inch paintings depicting scenes of Indian gods were reported stolen last week from a room in the Princeton Inn. The three were valued at $200. A fourth painting, valued at $100, was stolen the same day while on display at the Woodrow Wilson School on Washington Road. The paintings were in the custody of the American Indian Historical Society which was attending a conference here, police said. The door to the room in the Inn was locked and there were

Clean Up Week!

Borough and Township householders are invited to lay their trash on the line starting Monday, April 20, and continuing through Saturday, April 25. It's annual spring Clean-up Week. Both Princetons emphasize that trash must be tied in bundles small enough for one man to carry. Leaves and such should be packed in to plastic bags. Whoever you want Borough to pick up and carry away should be left on the right-of-way — NOT in the street.

No signs of forced entry, police said, adding that a number of members of the society had keys to the room. Jeannette Costo notified police of the theft at 5:45 p.m. Thursday.

Jackets Stolen. Two leather jackets were stolen last week from Borough shops in separate thefts.

Alvin Bonin, owner of the Princeton Army-Navy Store, 14½ Witherspoon Street, reported the loss of a $50 black leather jacket taken Monday between noon and 3:30 p.m. The jacket was removed from a rack near the entrance of the store, police said.

On Friday, Karl Riedel, manager of the Saturn Shop, 4 Chambers Street, called to report the theft two days earlier of a $110 brown leather jacket. He told police that four young men had been in the store just prior to his discovery of the theft.

A $40 stereo amplifier was stolen between 7 and 8 Sunday night from Murray Dodge Hall on the university campus.

TRENTON MAN CHARGED
With Drug Possession. A Trenton man was arrested in his car Sunday evening by Township police and charged with possession of a narcotic drug.

Pete Beck, 20, was arrested by P.D. David Potts at 6:45 at Terhune Road and Route 206. He was released in $200 had set by acting judge William L. Bunting Jr. for a Township court appearance April 15.

Township Detective Norman Servis reported that the car Beck was driving had been involved in a police investigation in Falls Township, Pa. and that an alarm for the car had been sent out. Beck was alone at the time of his arrest, police said.

CAVE TALES PLANNED
For Library Talk. A rare treat is in store for children in grades 4 through 6 at the Princeton Public Library, Wednesday afternoon, April 15, at 4. Joan Schoenherr, explorer and artist, will tell of the excitement and danger of spelunking.

Mr. Schoenherr's interest in caving began at age 15 when he attended a sportsmen's show and explored an artificial cave. He soon visited a cave in Robb'sville, Pennsylvania and joined the National Speleological Society. In his lecture, he will show slides loaned by the Society, and talk of more recent exploring he has done in a cave at Bayou, Puerto Rico. Best known for his illustrations of books like "Rascal," by Sterling North, and "Gentle Ben," by Walt Morey, Mr. Schoenherr has also written a book himself, titled "The Barn." He recently returned from an assignment photographing alligators in Florida. The program will last about 30 minutes. Brochures on near by caves will be available, and a booklet of exciting fiction and documentary books on caves has been prepared for the lecture. This will be available at the desk of the Children's Room.

Open Space Purchase Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The following telegram was sent to Governor Cahill with copies to New Jersey Senate Massary Leader Harry L. Searles, Senator S. L. Riddell, Senator
Richard J. Coiffe, Assemblyman
William E. Schuler and Assemblyman Karl Woidel.

"The Trustees of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, representing close to 1,000 members from 25 municipalities within our watershed area, urge you support the proposed $100 million dollar bond issue
for the purchase of open space
and park land in New Jersey.

We believe the chance to obtain much needed open space is of the highest priority because of the alarming disappearance of such land due to the pressures of population growth. New Jersey is already the most densely populated state in the nation. The preservation of such land for the future may be the most important act of your tenure and in the long run this will prove to be good economics because of the savings in the cost of many benefits not obtainable in any other way."

THOMAS C.
SOUTHERLAND JR.
Chairman, Brook-Millstone
Watersheds Association

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In the event that some of your readers may be frustrated as I was, in the face of the high ratio
of rhetoric to action on the pollution problem, I have a specific suggestion. People who can should, whenever possible, walk or use a bicycle instead of their automobile.

LEE P. NEUWIRTH
130 Philip Drive
Horticultural Courses Urged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter we have sent to Dr. Philip E. McPherson, Superintendent of Princeton Regional Schools:
The Central New Jersey
Branch of the National Association of Gardeners is vitally interested in supporting the institution of courses in Ornamental Horticulture as part of various educational curricula in New Jersey.

We have found, through meeting with Mr. John Toscano, that he is concerned in establishing such a course in Princeton High School. We shall be honored to supply to all concerned the technical resources at our disposal
and fully support the plan for the following reasons:

1. To give young men and women training in fields other than pure science, in which they are qualified, trained people in the many areas of this field (over 20,000 openings in the U.S. as disclosed by a 1969 survey by the National Horticultural Institute).
2. There is a pressing need for qualified, trained people in the
many areas of this field (over 20,000 openings in the U.S. as dis-
closed by a 1969 survey by the National Horticultural Institute).
3. The Princeton area, with its many beautifully landscaped
home grounds and research facilities, needs many younger-trained people to properly supervise their care and maintenance.
4. The immediate and future students should be introduced to an Ornamental Horticultural course to realize the rewards of a career in this field and experience the excitement and satisfaction of growing plants — be it
grass, flowers, shrubs or trees.

5. Monetary rewards are available to industrial employment.
6. Gainful employment is available for those who may termin-ate formal education at the high school level — but further studies to be encouraged.

We of the Central New Jersey
branch of the National Association of Gardeners are supporting and sponsoring the establishment of courses in Ornamental Horticulture in Middlesex County
College and Somerset County
Vocational - Technical High School through the "Committee
to Establish Schools of Applied Horticulture in New Jersey, and we wish to be of service in Princeton and will be happy to meet with you at your convenience.

How to Write School Board

Post Office Box 711, Princeton, is the address to use if you're writing a letter to anybody on the Princeton Regional School Board.

If you write to an individual member, the letter will be passed around among all the other board members so that everyone can consider your comments, said Superintendent Philip E. McPherson, announcing the P.O. Box number.

Your letter can, of course,
be addressed simply to
"Board of Education," and not to an individual member.

RALLY SUPPORTS PEACE
New. Thompson to Speak, Congressman Frank Thompson and president James I. McCord of Princeton Seminary will speak at a rally Friday sponsored by the Seminary's moratorium
group. Representative Thompson will speak at 11 a.m. at the administration building of the seminary on the Mercer Street
campus.

The fourth district legislator
has become popular an college campuses because of his opposition to the Vietnam war and his support for new priorities in Federal policy. Also speaking will be James E. Andrews, who is assistant to president McCord
and a member of the Princeton Borough Council.

The moratorium group seeks to emphasize the need for com-paign workers at all levels to secure support for political candidates pledged to objectives of peace and the restructuring of national priorities. They want to organize students and other citizens to help toward the election of such candidates.

The seminary group has stated that "to fail to work for change within the existing political structure is to dismiss the present political structure as an obsolete machine."

REGISTRATION SET

For Kindergarten Here. The mornings of April 13, 14 and 15
will be registration days for children who will enter regular kindergarten classes this fall in Princeton Regional School District.

Registration may be completed
between 9 and 12 at the offices of Johnson Park School, John Witherspoon School, Littlebrook
School and Riverside School. Parents must bring a birth certificate and evidence of immunization against poliomyelitis, diptheria, smallpox and measles.

All children will be assigned to a kindergarten class session
in accordance with their residence area in which they live.

In the event of overcrowding,
children registered after the capacity of a school's kindergarten
has been reached will be assigned to a kindergarten where space is available. Every effort will be made to assign children to kindergartens as close
as possible to their own neighborhoods.

BOTANY BRANDS, INC.:
"This slack can be cleaned

Only children whose fifth birthday falls on or before November 30 may be admitted to kindergarten. Class size will not exceed 25 children, and the morning and afternoon sessions will be rotated at the beginning of the spring term. Children will be assigned to three sections by the principal of the school.

BOOK SALE READIED
Collectors and browsers welcome. Thousands of second-hand books at bargain prices are promised at the upcoming Bryn Mawr Book Sale, scheduled April 22 through 25 in the gymnasium behind new Borough hall. Some volumes will sell for as little as ten cents, though the average price will be about 30c or 40c, according to the 1970 alumnus, who are arranging the annual event.

Proceeds, which in the past have averaged about $5,000 to $6,000, go toward scholarship assistance for young women from this area attending Bryn Mawr. Usually four girls can be assisted each year in this way. The price of books at the sale has increased very little in recent years, according to the 1970 chairman, Mrs. James Crimmins and Mrs. Joseph Widder.

Books for the sale are amassed all year long from many sources, including estate inheritors who would otherwise have to pay taxes. Books available usually cover a wide range of categories, and leather-bound sets and rare editions are presented regularly. Many books in the past that sold for less than $1 have turned out to be highly valuable collector's items.

To make book-browsing convenient, Harper's Bazaar magazine has printed attractive shopping bags which will be available at the April sale. Further doubts of books are still appreciated. Call Mrs. Crimmins at 737-0408 or Mrs. Spencer at 924-9237 to have your books picked up.

PEACE SYMBOLS REAPPEAR: These hushed steel peace symbols, the work of a graduate student, have reappeared not far from the University Chapel, in the background. First erected last fall, when one of the Vietnam War veterans rallies was being held on campus, they were almost immediately stolen, according to a spokesman for the University's Department of Public Information. He said that the symbols, affixed more permanently this time, would remain for the rest of the college year.

The Princeton Recreation Department. The performance will be from 3:30 to 4:30 in McCarter Theater. The musical program has for a theme, "Meeting the Music Makers." Robert Leist, conductor, will introduce the various instruments to the audience, explaining their function in the band.

HOSTS ARE NEEDED
For Fresh Air Children. The Princeton area will play host this summer to about 100 inner-city children for two weeks. The Mercer County Fresh Air Fund is still looking for volunteers who would like to give youngsters from 5 to 12, especially boys, a home for a fortnight.

The two-week visits will start June 30 when the children arrive by train in Princeton. Further details about the program can be obtained from the Friends of the Fresh Air Fund. They are: Mrs. William P. Howe, chairman (924-6721); Mrs. William P. Groh, co-chairman (737-0222); Mrs. Hector Poven, publicity (924-7451); Mrs. Arthur Silver, coordinator (737-3720); and Mrs. John Thomas, interviewing representative, at 921-5596.

Financial help and committee assistance for the 1970 season are also needed. At the committee's recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Howe, special guests were Mrs. Veronica Anthony and Mrs. Louise Fontaine, professional advisors from the national office of the Fresh Air Fund in New York City.

32 ARE CANDIDATES
For Career Awards. The second annual Career Development Awards Program has been launched for 1970. Thirty-two students are candidates. Last year, 35 Princeton High School graduates of the Class of 1969 received the program's first awards. All are enrolled in junior colleges, technical schools or nursing programs, preparing for such careers as electronics, medical technology, computer science, office management and medical secretarial work.

The Career Development Awards, conceived by William W. Turnbull of Educational Testing Service, to honor talented students whose abilities are in non-academic areas. Candidates must live in the Princeton Regional Schools district or attend, or have attended Princeton Schools. It is administered by Educational Testing Service as a community service.

Members of the advisory committee are: Max D. Blumenfeld, American Cyanamid Company; Mrs. Eva Fritz, Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce; Arthur N. Curtiss, David Sarnoff Research Center, RCA; LeBaron R. Foster, Opinion Research Corporation; J. Burwell Harrison, The Tenace Foundation; Stephen R. Hirsch, International Business Machines Corporation; Charles A. Hurford, David Sarnoff Research Center; Dr. Philip E. McPherson, Princeton Regional Schools; Paul E. Orr, Jr., Management Planning, Inc.; George Petrillo, Princeton High School; Robert P. Popino, American Cyanamid Company; Sydney S. Souter, attorney; Arthur T. Shack, Mercer County Community College; Roger S. Steffens, attorney; and Stanley Stein, Princeton High School.

Sponsors who have pledged contributions to the scholarship fund so far are: Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Taplin, 35 Armour Road; American Cyanamid, First National Bank of Princeton, International Business Machines, McGraw-Hill, Princeton Rotary Club, Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce, RCA, Shell Chemical, Union Camp, and Western Electric.

Winners of the 1970 awards will be chosen this spring by a selection committee made up of members of the advisory committee. The committee's decisions are based on personal interviews and recommendations from fellow students, teachers or employers. The committee also considers information provided by questionnaires and tests recently taken by the Career Development Award candidates at Princeton High School.

PRIDE ...
The Essential Ingredient

We speak of that certain pride, now so rare, which our forefathers have known as they heeded the fine and useful results of their creativity.

We at Cane Farm make and sell a number of products... furniture in artfully simple, beautifully crafted early American re-creations (or made to your own specifications if you wish)... carpeting and fabric proud in their vintage traditions. Even a restoration service is offered for the old pieces you treasure... including the chairs that need caning and rushing.

All this we sell... but the one commodity that has no price is the pride in our creativity... for this is the essential ingredient in all we do. Yet this pride with which we cannot part can become both yours and ours... as happens when people of like minds enjoy the re-creation of a magnificent heritage.

ART In Princeton

ONE-MAN SHOWS
At Gallery 100, The search for new symbols reflecting our milieu has been a preoccupation of the artists of this era. These symbols are shapes and forms which we, the viewer, react to subconsciously as well as intellectually. It is interesting to see the people who come to view the work of Judith Brodsky at Gallery 100 (roughly April 17) pause and react to her involvement in the symbolic element in painting and print making.

Princeton has been fortunate to have become familiar with Mrs. Brodsky as printmaker but this is the first time we have seen her as painter. There is a correlation between her original painting and printing which is most interesting.

Both art forms have a dominant intellectual element which is common to printmaking, but not necessarily to painting. Both also often utilize the same style of composition. The whole is made up of components, which often times could stand alone and put together make a complex and rich composition.

In the beautiful print, "Guide for the Perplexed," there is a rich textural quality combined with color that is reminiscent of stained glass windows. There is a symbolic religious figure surrounded by symbols of man's self-made destruction—an ambiguity leading us to thoughtfulness. In a print more typical of her style, "Where Does It All Lead?," the subtle colors of the components are set off by the contrast to the pure blue and white stylized border.

Unusual Composition in Mrs. Brodsky's painting, "Faith and Continuation," the composition is unusual. The lifted arm sweeps forward and the curved red diagonal keeps the figure in place, causing a visual tension that is intriguing.

The frenetic interlocking figures in the background make us move the end and the youthful female figure with arm upraised indicates the tomorrow. The textured dots and stars add an automated quality to the

Smithsonian Institution, National Gallery of Fine Arts. Mr. Dreves was originally from Germany where there is an old tradition of fine woodcuts. He now lives in Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

He was one of the first Bauhaus-trained artists—to get to this country and to carry on traditions of German modernism. He is a painter as well as a printmaker, but he says, "I derive great satisfaction from the technique of woodcut, my first and most lasting love."

His woodcuts have a painterly quality to them, going much further in the use of color than is traditional. However, the color is an integral part of the woodcut and not a tricky black ground over which he lays a wood-drawing. His development of the color woodcut is at most an art form in itself.

Mr. Dreves says, "To make available to many people by means of a simple reproductive method pictures which tell of the beauty and grandeur of our country has been my aim for many years." "Monuments of the West" is an excellent expression of this feeling. The strong dark horizontal, against the bold colors of yellow, green, orange, red and deep blue give a feeling of the grandness of the western landscape.

"Blue Hour" is a more subtle statement in greys, purples, and soft greens. The black is divided into many small areas which vibrate gently.

When Mr. Dreves is not preoccupied with color, his design is stronger. In his black and white semi-abstract "Sunflowers" and in his "Tall Trees," the shapes and textures are boldly incised in the wood. One can feel his decisive and spontaneous attack on the woodblock.

Some of Princeton artist Mae Rockland's new landscape etchings are on display in Trumpeter's window. The simple forms and warm colors are most appealing. She has used some of the same shapes in different combinations to achieve entirely different effects. In "Earth and Noon," "Changing Seasons," and "End of the Season," she has used the same lone moon-shape and combined it with a relaxed line quality to give an interesting feeling of the moon and its earthly relationships.

Announcing formation of the committee, Dean Fields said: "We want to identify the services presently available and gather the information — both positive and negative — that is needed to make comprehensive plans for the future. The committee will deal with the information gathered with the help of the students and bring in consultants as necessary."

FUND DRIVE UNDERWAY
By Montgomery Fire Company. The Montgomery Township Volunteer Fire Co. No. 2 of Blawenburg has begun a drive to raise funds for its new firehouse to be located on the south side of Route 516, a half mile east of Blawenburg.

An appeal has been mailed mailed to all residents and businesses in the district, and firemen will call to accept contributions and answer questions. Those who do not live within the district, but would like to contribute, may do so by making their check payable to "Montgomery Township Volunteer Fire Co. No. 2" and mail it to the company in Blawenburg. All contributions are tax deductible.

CIRCUS AND MAGIC SET
For Library Film Showings. During National Library Week, the Princeton Public Library has scheduled two entertaining evenings of motion pictures. The first, Monday night, will present two color films on the Russian circus, each lasting about 20 minutes. The program will begin at 7:30 to enable young children to attend.

"Bear Circus," and "Moscow Circus" feature circus comedy, music and performing animals, including the trained bears of Valentin Filatov. The only dialog that breaks through the music is an occasional announcement.

ADVISORY BOARD FORMED
 In Montgomery Township, a new experiment in community involvement has begun in Montgomery Township, and is growing into adjacent Rocky Hill, Griggstown and Hillsborough. Conducting the experiment is Community Advisory Board, a non-profit corporation whose purpose is to increase community awareness of the policies enacted by elected bodies. The goal of the "C.A.B." is to encourage constructive and responsible community participation by creating understanding of issues in the public interest and concerned with the betterment of the community.

Board Chairman, said that corporate organizational interest in the months and years ahead will center about humanitarian needs of local institutions, school curriculum and board policies, moderate income housing needs, tax rate stability, recreational needs of youth, township environmental oxles and narcotics presence within the community.

Challenged to supply responsible background material to the community on a difficult issue, and prompted by an announced forum on Family Living initiated by the Montgomery school board, C.A.B. adopted the Kindergarten through Second Grade sex education curriculum content of the Burnt Hill Road School as the first of its many activities. The organization stated it "had acted in the matter to clarify the actual issues," and stressed that "blind opposition and uncritical acquiescence to such education are twin evils and as such, equally reprehensible."

CAB indicated it was "not an action group" because such groups are "motivated by convictions which pertain to only one particular community issue; the convictions which undergird C.A.B., however, pertain to an informed community action on each of many issues." The organization stated that "unlike an action group which seeks to represent the community on a particular issue, C.A.B. seeks to represent responsibly issues to the community which are in the public interest and relevant to its betterment."

By being alert to community response, we shall ascertain the validity of not only our judgments but of their priority as well. The main point is that the interaction between the community and its elected bodies comprises the fabric of civilized society, and provides the check and balance motif requisite to community well-being. The human inclination to delegate responsibility to others, and nurtured by human trait of apathy tends to produce a vacuum in which elected bodies are implicitly asked to take representative action of a community in absentia.

"Since any check and balance procedure can only be as realistic as the community awareness and participation which it requires, C.A.B. is acting to encourage those responsibilities imposed by responsible citizenship. Our conviction is that increased community awareness, and participation is worthwhile, and will result in even more responsible and representative decisions."

To date, the "experiment" appears to be quite successful. C.A.B. reports with most accuracy that at least in Montgomery, a real community service has been performed. At present, C.A.B. says it is biding its time, waiting for a need for volunteer labor in the Big's Training school in Skillman, an unstable Robin, vice-chairman, M. W. tax rate within the township and Drake secretary, and K. R. Bill the prospect of a serious community narcotics problem.

In addition to Mr. Gange as also include G. T. Birch, R. J. chairman, officers are J. H. Clemens and Z. H. Platz.

EXHIBITS, TOUR PLANNED
 As Finale for Environment Week, a bus tour of Montgomery Township will climax seven days of activity there during "Environmental Quality Week," April 19 through 25. Buses will leave the High School parking lot Saturday, April 23, between 9:30 and 12:30, taking tours which will be about an hour's length. All tours will be under direction of high school student "tour guides."

The exact itinerary is being mapped with the advice of Richard H. Thorsell, spokesman for the Stony Brook-Hillstone Watersheds Association. Proposed areas of observation include flood plains, sewage disposal plants, polluted streams, historic sites and eroded stream areas; the purpose is to acquaint the public with conservation areas existing in the township, and to display practices and conditions which affect the quality of the environment.

The township board of education will supply buses for the free tours. Inside the high school on the same day will be a Project Fair, sponsored by the Montgomery PTA. Among the student exhibits many are expected to deal with environmental concerns; and it is hoped that visitors will view the fair and proceed to the bus trip afterwards.

At Kirkland House, where he lives, Mark is head of the Ford Dinner Series, and he is also vice president of the college's International Relations Council. Following graduation he hopes to spend three years in the Environmental Sciences Service Administration. While a student at Princeton High School, he was president of the student council.

Two Princeton area students have helped the Bowdoin College Hockey team achieve its best season ever, a record of 16-3, including a string of 16 consecutive victories.

Tom Lea, 92 Stockton Street, and Whit Raymond, Cherry Valley Road, were members of the Bowdoin squad, that set several other college records in addition to its fine record. Whit was the team's fourth leading scorer with 10 goals and 10 assists, while Tom had six goals and seven assists.

SPORTS in Princeton

HOMER OPENER SATURDAY

For PHS Lacrosse Team. The Princeton High School lacrosse team will play its season's home opener Saturday afternoon when it entertains a strong Maplewood Club at Community Park. Game time is 1:30.

The Little Tigers were scheduled to open their season Wednesday at Fairlawn.

Although the popularity of lacrosse on the high school level is on the upswing, schools in Central Jersey and Mercer County have not caught up to northern New Jersey where the sport is much more entrenched. Among high schools in this area, Princeton High alone competes in the sport, and so far it has been paying the price. Last season, PHS won three, lost eleven.

"I figure if we want to play, we have to play the best," says PHS coach Marvin Trotman now in his second year at the helm. As a result, the 14 game schedule in 1970, as in the past, will seem of the technical know-how comprised solely of lacrosse that PHS has been lacking. Trotschools from north Jersey.

Trotman enjoys a good rapport with the players. There is an abundance of spirit and interest — some 10 candidates reported again this year. But the Little Tigers have found they can't win against the likes of Maplewood or Montclair on spirit and interest alone, and chances are they may not reach the .500 mark this year either.

Asked if he were optimistic about the season at hand, Trotman replied, "It's hard to say. If we better last year's record, I'll be satisfied. Every year we do better, we do more for the school, and add to the sport here."

Has New Assistant. In one respect it will be a better year for Trotman: he is going to receive some coaching help. Perhaps the best basketball player ever produced at PHS, Trotman never played lacrosse before and has virtually had to learn the game along with the players.

This year John Mazzetta will serve as Trotman's assistant. Mazzetta played the game at Fairleigh Dickinson, which has fielded some fine lacrosse teams in the past, and he should bring up in the past, will seem of the technical know-how comprised solely of lacrosse that PHS has been lacking. Trot-try a few new wrinkles this year, such as a zone defense, to confuse the opposition.

At the outset, Trotman faces a problem in trying to replace a depleted attack. Pete McCrohan, the leading scorer last year and Bob Cooper, co-captains of the team, have graduated. Gene Holland, one of the three leading attackmen, now lives with his family in England. Scott Purvis, second in scoring last year, has also graduated.

"All our scoring definitely will come out of the midfield this year," said Trotman. "We will be strong defensively and in the goal, but will have to rely with basically an all new attack. That is a weak spot."

Morris, Rosso Co-Captains. Defenseman Steve Morris and middy Mark Rosso are co-captains of the team. In front of the goal is sophomore Nick Robinson who developed into a fine prospect as a freshman. Other veterans returning are midfielders Mike Tomlinson, Phil Holler, Phil Matthews, Craig Sing-

Sports In Princeton

High Schools PHS received credit for two wins after taking the event.

And this year? "If we find another harder to go with Paul, we could take eight points right off the bat," said Ivan. Last season Marzarella and Riddell finished 12 in the majority of Princeton's dual meets.

Another replacement has to be found for Tim Taggart who switched to lacrosse. "Taggart's leaving leaves us weak in the broad and high jumps," said Ivan. To paraphrase baseball, the track teams sizes us as a good runner, poor flier.

SPRING SPORTS ARE HERE

It says on the schedule, Easter snowstorms and sub-normal temperatures to the contrary. Princeton athletic teams are booked to compete in a variety of outdoor events this weekend. Tennis and track are the exceptions; two ball games, a lacrosse game and four crew races are on tap for the harder spectators.

With the weather what it has been, there was some doubt over ability to play baseball on Clark Field and lacrosse on adjacent Finney Field. The Logg Cup regatta against Rutgers on Lake Carnegie will proceed as scheduled, and the golf team should be able to open as planned against Seton Hall on the Springfield course Saturday afternoon.

Crew Short of Manpower

Coech Pole Spurnhawk has been wounded by an absolute minimum of personnel for two boats — 16 crewmen and a pair of coxswains. In addition to graduation, illness has siphoned off two capable men whom Spurnhawk hoped to put in his first shell.

Hopes for a season anywhere near as good as the last two are accordingly dim. In both the last two years, only strong Harvard and Penn crews have taken the Tigers' measure, and last spring, they defeated the Carnegie Cup against Cornell and Yale) successfully for the first time in Princeton rowing history.

This early in the season, the outcome of the varsity race against Rutgers rates as a toss up. The opening race, involving the second freshmen, begins at 2:30 with the freshmen an hour later, the jayves at 3:45 and the Logg Cup race at 4.

TIGERS TIE FOR FIRST

In Baseball Tournament. Beaten in its first two games last week, Princeton's hard-hitting baseball team won its last four to tie the University of Massachusetts for top spot in the tournament sponsored by the University of South Carolina at Columbia. Pitching strength, and to be 65% of college ball, is thin but for the first time in many years, power at the plate appeared to be there.

Each of the six teams in the week-long tournament played at least once a day, more often if the game had been rained out. Accordingly, every entry's pitching staff was worked harder than the regular season and still the Tigers managed to achieve what may be a first in the long history of Princeton baseball: from Friday afternoon at 3 until Saturday at 1, won three games in less than 24 hours.

After dropping their first two games in the tournament, to 6-6, they came back to trounce South Carolina, 14 to 3, seven-run third and a six-run eighth were the big innings as the Orange and Black coasted home behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Wolfe and Jack Hittison.

Princeton held a 20 lead against Yale Thursday when rain intervened but the game was continued Friday morning. With Ray Huard pitching, the Tigers increased their margin to 9-1, only to see Huard run into a long streak of wildness and walk four runs home. However, Bill Cravelli, a senior who saw little action last year, came on in relief, and after having seen their margin chopped to 9-6, the Tigers continued to pound the ball until they won, 15 to 6.

Extra-lining Victory. Friday night under the lights, Princeton was trailing Duke, 7-5 in the ninth, led the game and went on to win in the 11th, 8-7. Sophomore Jim Pestronk was the victor in relief of Hittison.

Massachusetts won its first four games but was upset by Yale Friday, so that it went into its Saturday morning game against Princeton with a 4-1 mark to the Tigers' 3-2. Wolfe then boat the New Englanders, 4 to 0.

Trent Are Waiting

Those anglers returning home empty-handed on Saturday, the opening day of New Jersey's trout fishing season, will have only themselves to blame. The State Division of Fish and Game has stocked the streams, lakes and ponds with more than 157,000 adult trout, ranging in size from seven to 18 inches.

Stony Brook, from Woodville to Fort Mercer received equal amounts of Brown and Rainbow Trout, totaling almost 2,500. Other bodies of water in Mercer County stocked with trout include Assumpink Creek, Carnegie Road to Whitehead Road, Colonial Lake in Trenton, and Delaware - Raritan Canal, Hunterdon County Line to Yardley Bridge.

In nearby Somerset, streams well stocked, include the south branch of the Raritan River near Neshaun Station, Rock Brook near Zinn and Harrison Brook near Liberty Corner. Hunterdon County offers Alexander Creek near Mount Airy, Amwell Lake and Back Brook near Ringoes, Neshaun Brook near Beaville and the Musconetcong River, which has been stocked with nearly 6,000 trout from Route 31 to Bloomsbury.

1, going the distance with a mixture of curves, sliders and change-ups. That made both teams' records 4-2 for a first place tie in the final standings.

Bernie Barrett, a junior, has won the third base job vacated by Huard when he joined the pitching staff. Hard-hitting Bob Schiffer at first, John Rooney at second and Captain Todd Faulstich at short round out the infield, with the veteran Arnie Holberg, rated a pro prospect, handling the catching assignment for the third year.

Paul Colburn is in center again, while Doug Blake, a sophomore who has been hitting well, is in charge of left field. Coach Eddie Donovan has been pitching in right with sophomore

Hank Bjorklund, a right-handed hitter, and outfielder Len Coleman.

New Hampshire on Wednesday, Bowdoin Friday and Rochester Saturday were all on this week's schedule. The wet field — Continued on Next Page

JOHN HOPKINS NEXT
For the Lacrosse Team, a 9-3 loss to Maryland at College Park Saturday marked the opening of Princeton's lacrosse season. Weather permitting, the Tigers will face Johns Hopkins here Saturday at 2; if the field is unplayable, the game will be switched to Baltimore.

Behind only by 2-1 after 15 minutes and by no more than 3-2 at the half, the Tigers could not maintain an attack in the final two quarters against Maryland. Coach Terria Thomson felt his team was deficient in the fundamentals, but was encouraged by some of the defensive play he saw. If that department measures up to the rest of the squad's potential Princeton should have a shot at the Ivy title.

STAFF CHANGES MADE
In Princeton Athletics, Walter W. "Peg" McCarthy, who coached Princeton freshman football teams to two undefeated seasons in the past decade, has been named Assistant Director of Athletics and Business Manager in that department, effective this week.

He is being replaced as freshman football coach by his assistant of the past year, Bruce Tarbox. An assistant is being sought for Tarbox, with an announcement expected later this spring.

A 1942 graduate of Boston University, where he was a standout in football, track and baseball, McCarthy coached Boston Latin School football teams to five undefeated seasons in the eight years he was there. Coming to Princeton in 1960, he succeeded Jake McCandless as freshman coach when the latter was promoted to the varsity staff. McCarthy directed his teams to 35 victories and two ties, while losing 23 games. Last fall, the Class of 1973 won five and tied one.

Tarbox played under McCandless in the mid-'50s, when Jake was coaching the Kent School. A standout guard at Syracuse (1958-'60), Tarbox played in the National Football League with the New York Giants in 1961 and the Los Angeles Rams for the next two seasons until an injury ended his career.

He held various coaching assignments at the school and college level in New York State before coming to Princeton at the outset of the McCandless regime in 1969. He was in charge of the highly capable freshman line men last fall.

SNOW BLOCKS SAILING
By Carnegie Club. A tune-up sail and boat show on Lake Carnegie planned by the Carnegie Sailing Club for Easter Sunday was buried by the snow, forcing cancellation of the day's activities.

Practicing will now have to be handled on an individual basis, because the club's spring race program begins this Sunday at 2. The club invites all those who would like to participate to come down to the boat house at the foot of Shady Brook Lane on Kingston Road. There will be an opportunity to "talk shop" with present members before and after the races.

143 LETTERS AWARDED

To PHS Winter Sport Athletes. One hundred forty-three letters have been awarded to members of five winter sport teams at Princeton High School, according to athletic director Joseph Jingoli.

Overall, PHS won 63 events, lost 52 and had one tie in basketball, wrestling, hockey, winter track and bowling. There were 236 candidates for the various varsity, junior varsity and freshman letters.

Awarded varsity letters in basketball were Paul Riddell,

ACCOUNT AWARDED

Roth Agency Named. William Sentner, President of Register-Card, a new credit card protection service, has announced that the Roth Advertising Agency at 1103 State Road will handle its advertising and public relations programs.

With headquarters at 116 West State Street, Trenton, Register-Card was formed to protect its members from illegal use of lost or stolen credit cards. The company registers all credit cards belonging to a member family, and upon notice, immediately alerts all the involved companies that the cards have been lost or stolen.

According to Mr. Sentner, millions of dollars of merchandise are purchased illegally every year with lost or stolen credit cards, and the card owner is held liable until he notifies the issuing company in writing. Register-Card, he says, notifies all the companies immediately and handles all the details, thus saving members time, trouble and expense.

SEN. CASE REPORTS
Constitutional Pace Quickens
"The pace of this year's session of the Senate is far faster than it has been in years," Sen. Clifford P. Case writes this week from Washington. "This is a welcome change for Congress, has a long way to go to make up for last year's inaction on many important measures." He continues:
"A prime example is extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 due to expire in June of this year. For months a bill to extend the Act awaited action in the House. And it was not until December that the House passed a much weakened extension bill and sent it to the Senate. By contrast, in a matter of weeks, the full Senate has completed action on the matter."

"The right to vote is the most fundamental of all citizens' rights. In this century no single act has done more to extend and protect the exercise of that right than the 1965 Act."
"The heart of the 1965 law is the so-called 'trigger' provision. Under it Federal registrars are sent to areas where less than 50% of voting age residents voted in the 1964 election and where literacy or other tests or devices are required as a prerequisite for voting. Further, no changes in voting laws and procedures in the covered areas can be made without prior approval of the Attorney General."

Major Progress Noted. "The results of these provisions have been dramatic. In seven southern states 84.7% of the black population is now registered to vote compared to only 33.1% registered before enactment of the 1965 Act. In Mississippi, for example, prior to 1965 there were only 15,000 to 18,000 black and poor white citizens registered. Today there are between 270,000 and 300,000 blacks and poor whites registered.

"To permit the erosion of these and future gains by delaying the automatic protection afforded by the 'trigger' seemed to me and others in the Senate unthinkable. But southern opponents made a determined effort to water it down."
"The House bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee in January. For two months, southern members prevented any vote in the committee. They could not, however, prevent the bill from coming back to the full Senate because the Senate had set a deadline for committee action."

"With the bill thus back to the Senate floor early in March, we succeeded, after a lengthy debate and many rollcalls, in securing passage of a bill, stronger than the weak House bill. Essentially, the substitute is an extension of the 1965 Act with a few additions."
"One addition is designed to make clear the applicability of the 'trigger' to all areas of the country. In fact, however, it will affect only a handful of counties in four states outside the south since, like New Jersey, most of them do not have a literacy test and over 50% of their citizens are registered to vote."
"A second addition that will have an effect on all sections of the country is the provision to lower the voting age to eighteen throughout the country. Adopted by an overwhelming majority, this provision would make nearly eleven million young people eligible to register. Two thirds of this group are already in the labor force and many others are serving in the Armed Forces."

"The Senate version of the bill has now been sent to the House of Representatives where several important matters, including Chairman Celler of the House Judiciary Committee, have been strongly opposed to eighteen-year-old voting. At this writing, however, there have been some indications that Mr. Celler as well as the House leadership may yield on this point, in view of the long history of support for the 18 year voting age by both parties and every President from Eisenhower to Nixon.

"If the eighteen-year old vote is retained in the final version, the 1970 Voting Rights Act can, like the 1965 Act, bring a significant expansion of the franchise."

EXPERIMENT SUCCESSFUL
Telescope in Use at 80,000 Feet.
Stratoscope II, Princeton University's 41-ton balloon-borne telescope, returned to earth Friday five miles east of Corinth, Miss., some 400 miles from its launching site, after ground-based astronomers spent the night photographing stellar objects. It landed in a soft farm field with relatively little damage to the telescope and no damage to other property.

The telescope, launched the day before from the Scientific Balloon Flight Station near Palestine, Texas, had floated at 80,000 feet for about nine hours while on-the-ground astronomers aimed at selected astronomical objects. The telescope was aimed by radio command and directed by television cameras attached to the telescope.

The Princeton project is supported by the National Science Foundation, the Office of Naval Research and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).
Preliminary indications are that the highly precise 36-inch reflector, from its position above 95% of the dust and turbulence of the earth's atmosphere, has taken photographs of significant scientific interest. About one week will be required to analyze and make a preliminary analysis.

News Of The CHURCHES

COMPOSER TO SPEAK
In Trinity Church, Richard Feliciano, young American composer and professor of music at the University of California at Berkeley, will be the guest speaker at the 9 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday in Trinity Church. He will conduct the second performance of his Easter composition, "Sic Transit." A work for boys' voices, combined with a prepared tape recording, strobic lights and organ, "Sic Transit" was commissioned by Alec Wyton, organist and choirmaster of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City. It received its first performance last Sunday in the Cathedral.

It is one of the few avant garde compositions written for the church during the last few years and is highly original in its use of space in the reproduction of sound sources.

Mr. Feliciano will speak on "The Present and Future Role of Music in Church" at the 9 a.m. service, which will be a eucharist celebrated with an experimental liturgy. During the 11 a.m. service, he will discuss composition and the Church of Men and Boys will sing one of his early works, a setting of the traditional Episcopal Communion liturgy.

On Monday, Mr. Feliciano will conduct a series of seminars on "Contemporary Composers and the Church" at Westminster Church College.

WCS TO MEET
For Yearly Observance, The yearly Call to Prayer and Self-denial among the women of the United Methodist Church, will be marked by the Women's Society of Christian Service of Princeton Methodist Church at an 8 p.m. service next Thursday, April 9.

More than 1,800 Methodist women in all 50 states will join in the national observance. Mrs. Laura Guinter is chairman in Princeton.

The theme of the 1970 call is "For the Now," inspired by the needs and opportunities to meet the needs through self-denial. The women's division has designated the special offering to New Opportunities for Mission Overseas and to Minority (Indigenous) Community Development in the United States.

The service centers upon prayer, meditation and an interpretation of the mission reports.

SPECIAL MUSIC SET
By Interchurch Choir. The combined choir of St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Lower Merion, Pa., and of Christ Congregation Walnut Lane, will sing "O Bach's Christ Lac in Todesbunden" at this Sunday's 10 a.m. service in the Princeton church.

Helen O'Doble will conduct the choir. Mary Lois Kierman will accompany.

TO HOLD FOLK MASS
At All Saints' Chapel. A folk mass will be held at 10 a.m. this Sunday in All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road. The service includes presentation of gifts.

Earlier, at 7:30 a.m., there will be a service of holy communion.

By University Chapel. A series of 13 films produced by British art historian Kenneth Clark begins at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 8, in 10 McCosh Hall under

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Koschek; a sister, Mrs. Albert A. Kurtz, three brothers, Dr. Andrew G. Koschek, all of Lawrenceville; Michael of Trenton and Joseph of Seaside Heights.

Private service will be held Friday at 10:30 at the Koschek Funeral Home in Trenton. Burial will be in St. Mary's of the Assumption Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

the sponsorship of the University Chapel. Each segment explores a separate period in terms of its artistic, economic, and political.

The series, titled "A Survey of Western Civilization from the Dark Ages to the Present," begins with two films: "The Skin of Our Teeth" and "The Great Minutes." Each film runs for 32 minutes.

Admission is free, although tickets must be obtained in advance at Murray-Dodge Hall. The "Civilization" films were shown on HBC-TV last spring, and have been viewed in this country at Town Hall in New York and at the National Gallery of Art, Washington, where more than 10,000 persons tried to gain admission, according to news reports.

The series continues as follows: Thurs., April 9, "Romance and Reality" and "Man — The Measure of All Things"; Fri., April 10, "The Hero as Artist," "Protest and Communication," and "Grandeur and Obedience"; Monday, April 13, "The Light of Experience" and "The Pursuit of Happiness"; Wed., April 15, "The Smile of Reason" and "The World of Nature"; and Thurs., April 16, "The Fallacies of Logic" and "Heroic Materialism."

A SUPERB RAISED RANCH

The colossal condition of this 4 bedroom residence is only a small part of what comprises the attractiveness of this dwelling. It has wall to wall carpeting throughout the hallways, living room, dining room and master bedroom. It has a cheery eat-in kitchen, 2 1/2 baths, laundry room and utility room.

All this is overshadowed by the sensational stone fireplace in the bright family room. An oversized 2 car garage is another feature of this most attractive home.

RIVERSIDE...

This is one of Princeton's most pleasant neighborhoods—winding streets, beautiful trees, lovely homes. And of the few properties available, here is one that is bound to appeal to the home-seeker! Owner-occupied from the time it was built, it is beautifully maintained and so nice to look at that, once you see it, you'll look no further! Deep basement with an extra living room now used for TV, 14' x 27' family room with fireplace and a bedroom, powder room, 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. The neighborhood is full of children, and the neighbors are a congenial group — mostly from research centers in the Princeton area. Excellent schools. $44,000

DUTCH COLONIAL... on a landscaped acre in nearby Hillsborough Twp., this handsome home has central air-conditioning, excellent landscaping. Living room, family room with fireplace, a fine modern kitchen, powder room, 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. The property faces on Province Line Road, and the neighbors are a congenial group — mostly from research centers in the Princeton area. Excellent schools. $44,000

TRULY RURAL... on 5 acres in Montgomery Twp., 15 minutes from Princeton, with a mountain brook tumbling over boulders on the western boundary of the property, here is a beautiful country home with a facade of pinkish Williamsburg brick. Custom-built for the present owner, the house has many other architectural details — reminiscent of the Williamsburg theme. Charming entry hall, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, beautiful kitchen, big master bedroom with its own bath and huge closets, second bedroom & a paroled den for 3rd bedroom and large recreation room downstairs. Central air-conditioning. $49,500

IN THE COUNTRY... on a delightfully landscaped acre a few minutes south from Princeton, with tall shade trees that make this property a real oasis, we offer a white-washed brick cottage that is much too attractive to pass. Living room with adjacent dining area, charming den with beamed ceiling, music room and modern kitchen on the first floor. Upstairs, 3 bedrooms, sitting room and bath. The property faces on Province Line Road, and is only a short drive from Bedon's Brook golf course. $49,500

TRULY EXCEPTIONAL... On 1 1/2 acres in rural North Lawrence Township, this story-and-a-half Colonial, gleaming with fresh paint, will appeal to commuters as well as people who have long dreamed of living in the country. Comfortable foyer, living room with fireplace, dining room, very up-to-date all-electric kitchen with self-cleaning oven, fireplace and the adjoining family room. Washer and dryer behind doors in the kitchen. Study, master bedroom and bath also on first floor. Upstairs: 2 bedrooms and bath, and plenty of room for adding another bedroom and bath. Built by Buchanan, this is a very exceptional home, and the property is attractively landscaped with terraces in the back for enjoying summer afternoons and evenings. $62,500

SIX BEDROOMS... and 3 baths! On a wooded lot in North Lawrence, but with a Princeton telephone and a Princeton mailing address, this is an excellent house for a growing family. Foyer with slate floor, living room with fireplace, dining room, large kitchen, laundry, family room, 6 bedrooms and 3 baths are on the first floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Three-zone heat with baseboard radiating. Pella double windows throughout. The owner is a custom builder, and this fine home shows it! $62,500

ON A KNOLL... among beautiful trees and far back from the road on three acres, here is Rosedale Road's best buy! The rooms are very large, living room with fireplace (15'x30'), separate dining room, spacious kitchen (17'9" x 14'), paneled study, a master bedroom 19'x15', two other bedrooms, each 14'x15' huge closets, built-in galore! Maid's room has been converted into an extra kitchen, but could easily be a family room (with wet bar) or fourth bedroom as there is a bath adjoining. There's also a floored expansion attic perfect for two bedrooms and bath, when needed! $69,500

WESTERN SECTION... On a quiet street in what is, perhaps, our most desirable neighborhood, this property offers much more than its location — beautiful trees, an air of solid conservatism — even a brook! The house is custom-built of stone and wood, and features a very large living room with brick fireplace wall, and opening, glass doors leading to a terrace and a sylvan view that is quite charming — and forever yours. Kitchen is very spacious and modern, with a large breakfast area, and there is a wing off the living room with family room and fireplace, small den and bath. The sleeping wing has 3 bedrooms and bath. $72,500

CENTURIES OLD... dating from 1740, this fine Colonial is one of the showplaces of neighboring Kingston Township, the rooms are large and great for entertaining. 17 acres of land, with many great old shade trees and beautiful hedges to guarantee privacy. Gracious entrance hall, large living room with fireplace, family room with high ceiling, parlor, walls and fireplace. Heated sun room facing the lovely garden, with thermopane doors. Spacious dining room, large modern kitchen, powder room, and attached garage, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. $78,500

Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide range. Ample parking space for our clients.
